

NLM Traveling Exhibitions

Basic Information

The National Library of Medicine (NLM) offers the following basic information about NLM traveling exhibitions.

Host Venue Responsibilities

NLM traveling exhibition host venues are responsible for the following:

- Showcase and share NLM's health information resources with local audiences, communities, patrons, and colleagues as per proposed programs included in requesting the exhibition.
- Make the exhibition available to the public free of charge.
- Display the exhibition in a safe, secure environment out of direct sunlight.
- Complete and send a condition report within one week of receiving the exhibition.
- Arrange and pay for shipping the exhibition to the next host venue via trackable, three-day services, such as FedEx, UPS, or DHL ($300-$700 estimated cost).
- Send the Traveling Exhibition Host Venue Report no more than 2 weeks after sending the exhibition to the next venue.
